The opening of this new office will help accommodate the tremendous growth the company is experiencing. The new Irvine location includes additional offices and meeting space, which will allow Treeium to meet the increased demand for their services and to better serve the Orange County community.

Guy Liba, Manager for the Irvine office, stated "The move to a larger location reflects our success and growth, which in part is due to the high quality of the services we provide as well as the expertise, passion and professionalism of our staff. We are excited about the office move and look forward to serving the needs of our clients at our new location."

The new Irvine office strengthens Treeium's already strong roots across California, which includes regional offices in Los Angeles, San Diego and Oakland.
