

ConnectLink Launching New Website with Free Contractor Profiles

Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) Beverly Hills, CA – November 28, 2013 - ConnectLink, a free, no-obligation service connecting customers to thousands of pre-screened home remodeling contractors in California, announced that it is launching a new website which will be offering free contractor profiles.

Once ConnectLink receives a service request, they connect customers with the best professionals for the job. Customers receive free competitive quotes and choose the one that best fits their current needs. ConnectLink also works with the best eco-friendly home remodelers in California to help homeowners create an energy efficient, healthier home.

When contractors create their free ConnectLink profile, they'll immediately have a presence online that they can customize by adding licensing information, pictures, and reviews from other sites. Member profiles also include a dashboard where contractors can view complete information about the status of their leads and their projects.

"By providing free contractor profiles, we want to help customers find the perfect home remodeling professional for their project more easily" said Alexis Posternak, CEO of ConnectLink. On the other hand, contractors will get exclusive access to thousands of targeted leads who are looking for their services."

ConnectLink also hopes that this will help them increase their offering of pre-screened, high quality home remodeling professionals in order to provide the best service possible.

About ConnectLink ConnectLink is a free, no-obligation service connecting customers to thousands of pre-screened local contractors in California. No matter the size of the project, customers provide details of what they need and ConnectLink will do the research for them. No calls, no meetings, no problems! Once they find the best professionals for the job, ConnectLink will send customers free competitive quotes so they can choose the one that best fits their needs. For those looking for a trusted source of high quality home remodeling professionals, look no further than ConnectLink!