with its high-flying opportunity for the most exotic gift that represents the nature and creativity of the Santa Barbara community. For those gift givers who aren't sure what to buy for friends who have everything, and don't know where to find ten lords-a-leaping, YoungJets is offering to seamlessly transport up to 18 people on a $65 million Gulfstream G650 to a private island refuge in the South Pacific.

For the low cost of $610,000, would-be Santas and their guests can sip champagne and eat farm-to-jet fare served by a private air hostess while traveling up to Mach 0.925 in the most technologically advanced private aircraft in the sky. The group will avoid traditional airport hassles and arrived refreshed and relaxed in the tropical paradise of Laucala Island, an exclusive private resort in Fiji, South Pacific.

Holiday revelers will indulge themselves in a land of powder-white beaches, dramatic rain-forests, emerald green lagoons, and glorious views of the Fijian archipelago. They will sleep in an architecturally masterful private hilltop estate residence which is perched at the highest point of the island affording stunning 360-degree views, while luxuriating in a panoramic infinity pool, with their every need met by a private cook, chauffeur, and nanny.

YoungJet's founder and CEO, David Young, has spent more than 20 years in the private aviation, music, entertainment and VIP travel arena, much of which has been centered on crafting complex jet tours for many of the world's largest entertainers. "I founded YoungJets out of a desire to deliver a more controlled experience and better overall value to my clients," stated Young. "We've harnessed my decades of knowledge to create a company that listens, intuits and is as capable as one exponentially larger, but is more nimble, responsive and in-tune with the unique needs of each traveler. This gift package is the ultimate expression of our capability to provide the best in private jet charter service "
