) Certified CPA and firm President, Steven Lepsetz, CPA, MBA is announcing the launch of a newly revised, client-focused website created to guide users through common financial concerns and give them the tools to manage their personal and business wealth. Lepsetz's firm is utilizing their website to educate the community on how a knowledgeable tax planner can help manage your finances in order to better plan for your future and keep more money in your pocket. The website includes financial guides to aid business and investment strategies, tax strategies for individuals and businesses and a page of frequently asked questions to address common financial concerns.

"When we decided to update our website, we did it with our clients in mind. Our goal was to create a virtual library of financial information that just about anyone could benefit from. Whether you're a wealthy business owner or someone trying to figure out the best investment strategy for you, there's something on our website to help you," Lepsetz said.

The website possesses useful tools for tax season including tax and financial calculators and a secure online portal that can be used to send documents to your tax preparer at Farquharson, Pointon and Lepsetz, CPAs. Visitors also have access to an extensive list of helpful links that cover topics ranging from state tax laws in Michigan, to how to startup a small business. Some of the services offered by Farquharson, Pointon and Lepsetz, CPAs include:
