Orange County CPA and CFP, Richard White, and his firm, R.M. White and Associates, is announcing the launch of a new, client-focused website created to guide users through common financial concerns they may experience as individuals or business owners. White's firm is utilizing their website to educate the community on how a knowledgeable tax planner experienced with QuickBooks can help manage your finances to better plan for your future and keep more money in your pocket and in your business's coffers. The website includes a free tax center with many resources for tax time including a feature that allows you to track your state and federal refunds, a library of tax forms and a guide to explain what type of documents you should hang onto and for how long.

"When we launched our redesigned website, we did it with one thing in mind: our clients. We listened to them closely throughout the years and packed our website with the information they were asking us for," White said. "Whether you're an individual or a business owner, there's something you can benefit from learning or downloading from our website."

Always an entrepreneur at heart, White has also tooled his firm and website to assist Orange County business owners in a range of different industries including restaurant accounting and manufacturing accounting. R.M. White and Associates offers a free initial consultation for business owners and has even setup a special "industries" section on their website to explain unique tax planning strategies for business segments in which they specialize.

"Our firm has a great deal of experience in different industries, and we love bringing that expertise to our clients. I think having deep knowledge in industries like food service and manufacturing allows us to create unique financial solutions tailored specifically to our clients' needs." White adds.
