(PRLEAP.COM) Dallas, TX - Frontline Source Group, Inc. has announced recent updates to their App for both iOS and Android users, making use of the App even easier for job seekers. The App can be utilized by all candidates, as Frontline specializes in temporary, temp to hire and direct hire placement positions. The App is free to download and now allows users to not only search open positions, but also apply right from their smart phone.

"The capability for candidates to apply to a position from their tablet or smart phone is what we were missing," said Shelly Hubble, Vice President. "Anything to make the application process easier to access while also increasing efficiency in the hiring process is an improvement. It's important to us to stay innovative in the staffing industry, and we look forward to allowing candidates to complete the entire application process right from their phone or tablet."

Directly from the Frontline Source Group App, candidates can search open jobs in their profession, read qualifications and job descriptions and even upload a resume. In fact, the App allows multiple jobs to be selected at once, therefore only requiring the candidate to upload their resume one time.

Frontline has found the integration of these App updates to be extremely effective. With more households switching from desktop computers to solely tablet and smart phone use, candidates will find this free App very useful when searching and applying for positions.
