

Trusted TPV Services Help Companies Flourish

Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) AGOURA HILLS, CA - Companies that use third party verification are seeing success, due in large part to the fact that TPV services are a necessary component to many intrinsic business processes.

Third party verification providers like Direct TPV allow telemarketers, teleresearchers, long distance providers, and other businesses that require electronic check payments via telephone to complete their government mandated transparency requirements. TPV providers can obtain written and audio records of contract agreements that are legally binding and help businesses meet Federal Trade Commission requirements. With these records, customers and service providers alike can confidently proceed with their transactions knowing that the presence of an objective, impartial documentarian protects both parties against fraudulent and inaccurate claims.

Direct TPV is a full-service verification solutions provider that has been used extensively by call centers, debt collections, credit card agencies, cable providers, infomercial sales, and many other industries. They are equipped to provide a wide variety of third party verification services including, but not limited to, automated script recording, call auditing, and detailed real-time reporting. They easily integrate with all back office systems to help make the transition into using their services as a part of a company's daily operating practices a seamless one.
