( PRLEAP.COM ) San Antonio, TX – [BVA Scientific](http://BVA Scientific) , a leader in scientific lab supplies and lab equipment distribution, is announcing a special buy-one-get-one-free promotion on Nichiryo products including pipettes, pipettors and pipette tips. BVA is proud to deliver clients the best chemistry and laboratory supplies. Nichiryo products are a trusted name in the business and with the current promotion, laboratories can stock the supplies they need while saving significant costs.

Nichiryo pipettes are known for their advanced durability against organic solvent dispensing. All models have plungers made with materials resistant to organic solvents and alloy springs to avoid metal corrosion by organic solvents. Easy-Calibration function provides simple lab calibration and the one-touch locking mechanism makes it easy to lock the sample volume.

Today's fields of science and technology require change, speed, and advancement, and Nichiryo products support groundbreaking research by providing innovative instruments. By cooperating with research facilities at distinguished universities and institutions to gather information from distribution channels around the world, Nichiryo has developed reliable tools that are the preferred choice for many laboratories. BVA Scientific makes it affordable for chemistry companies and research laboratories to benefit from these industry-leading tools while conducting their important work.

BVA Scientific also offers an extensive catalog of products of chemistry supplies, microbiology supplies, or supplies for any other specialized field that requires premium lab equipment.
