( PRLEAP.COM ) May 13, 2014 - Macomb, MI - For over 30 years, Foam Factory has provided their clients with only the highest quality of upholstery solutions

Recently, they have announced a transition from distributing their usual, highly successful poly foam, to now delivering a new and dynamic variety: medical foam. Although medical foam is currently used in their body wedges and assorted support pillows, Foam Factory is aiming to expand medical foam throughout their entire inventory.

Primarily used for therapeutic use, medical foam is known for its conformal support. Through medical technology, this foam emphasizes qualities like support, flexibility, and durability. By switching to medical foam, Foam Factory provides a more comfortable and dynamic set of enhancements to upholstery products.

One example is an increase in firmness, which dictates foam support and flexibility. Medical foam provides a rating of 45IFD (Indentation Force Deflection) versus poly foam which offers 36IFD. Another comparative feature is an increase of foam density. Medical foam has a density grade of 1.5.LB, while poly foam offers 1.3LB. Other long-term benefits of medical foam include the usage of a specialized anti-microbial formulation which provides health support throughout constant contact and use.

Foam Factory's decision to switch out their poly foam material with medical foam is a great way to offer customers the advanced benefits of medical development, without being exclusive to medical industry use. In addition, Foam Factory plans on continuing their goal of offering the best products at the lowest prices by providing customers the new medical varieties at the same price as poly foam products. In the coming months, customers will be able to enjoy the added benefits of medical foam, without having to pay the added price.
