(PRLEAP.COM) San Diego, CA – June 11, 2014 – GreenRope , a leading Customer Relationship Management (CRM) and Marketing Automation platform, recently announced its newest partnership with CommNexus, a non-profit working to enhance the high-tech landscape in San Diego.

The partnership between GreenRope and CommNexus is another step in bringing together and building the San Diego Tech community. "Our (San Diego) tech community continues to grow each day," says CEO, Lars Helgeson. "This partnership illustrates our mutual support for the community, and we could not be happier that CommNexus chose to use GreenRope as a huge piece of their new website."

CommNexus recently announced the launch of their brand new interactive and innovative website backed by GreenRope software. GreenRope will power the front and back end event management, CRM, email marketing, and more. Their new website will be a resource to find information about tech events in San Diego and within the greater tech community.

"It's exciting to think that every email blast, and every event will be developed and managed using GreenRope," explains Marketing Director, Alessandra Ceresa. "And we are proud to work with and promote CommNexus as such an important resource and player in the industry."
