announced it has been named as one of Washington state's Top 100 Companies to Work For by Seattle Business magazine for the second year in a row. The award is given based on employee feedback. Classifiedads.com ranks number 15 in the small company category. "This award is exciting to us at ClassifiedAds.com because not only have we built a fast growing profitable company but also a place where people love coming to work." said CEO Edward Yim.

"In the 25 year history of our state's 100 Best Companies to Work For program dating to our many years as Washington CEO magazine, I don't believe that a CEO has ever had two separate companies on the list at the same time," said Michael Romoser, associate publisher of Seattle Business magazine.

The 100 Best Companies to Work For list was based on thousands of employee surveys. The survey results were analyzed by an independent research company and then a distinguished panel of judges chose the winners. Top companies were recognized for setting the standard for leadership, benefits, work environment, innovative training programs, happy employees and more – and ClassifiedAds.com was thrilled to be among them.
