

Australians put faith in SMSFs rather than super funds

Written by Business News

---

Australians are more likely to be engaged and satisfied with their self-managed super fund (SMSF) than with traditional super funds, according to independent industry research conducted by strategic consultancy Engaged Marketing.