

Digital Metals Launches Spots in a Box

Written by Business News

Digital Metals, a division of Dillon Gage Metals, announces its most recent product, Spots in a Box, which delivers real-time precious metals spot pricing to audiences anywhere at any time. This customizable in-store digital display attaches to a small electronic device that connects users to Dillon Gage's platform via the web, providing real-time and historical pricing for gold, silver, platinum and palladium.