PARIS, September 25, 2013 /PRNewswire/ --

This focuses on solicited corporate ratings following the SpreadResearch ESMA (European Securities and Markets Authority) Credit Rating Agency Registration July 1st, 2013.

This achievement clearly demonstrates SpreadResearch's know-how in fundamental credit research. At the same time, Spread Research is strengthening its investment recommendation capabilities in reinforcing its team in France and in the UK.

SpreadResearch remains more than ever an Independent credit Research Provider ("IRP" business unit) as it has been during the last 10 years, specialized in High Yield bond issuers' independent credit and investment recommendation research.

About SpreadResearch - http://www.spreadresearch.com :Established in 2004 and based in Lyon and London, Spread Research is an independent credit research provider. The credit rating agency provides buy-side investors of European corporate credit markets with analysis of the credit worthiness of high-yield & convertible corporate bond issuers. To date, Spread Research provides analysis ratings of over 100 high-yield debt issuers, and provides investment recommendations for over 200 corporate bond issuers as well as credit analysis for private investments for European SMBs. As of 1 July 2013, the agency is registered by ESMA (European Securities and Markets Authority) as a Credit Rating Agency making it the first French credit rating agency.

SOURCE Spread Research