For the quarter ending September, MGM Resorts International had loss of $31.9 million whereas the loss was $181.2 million

a year ago. On the other hand, its revenues climbed by 9 percent to $2.46 billion.

Alpha Natural Resources, Inc.(NYSE: ANR) came out with results for quarter three indicating losses due to special charges and weaker coal revenue. But, the loss was less than what was expected by Wall Street and the firm reduced the forecast for mining costs.

The firm had a tough market to deal with during the quarter and also saw closing down of one of its mines. The firm confirmed making progress on settling a case pertaining to Massey stockholders. A disaster at Massey mine three years back resulted in death of 29 coal miners. The company bought over Massey in 2011 and is expecting insurance to cover $70 million of $265 million settlement.
