

(PRLEAP.COM) "The Automobile Accident Jury Trial," a new book by Terry Davis, has been released by Dorrance Publishing Co., Inc.

"This is the beginning of one case, slightly altered. The case began, as all of my thousands of cases, over forty-six years of law practice, by receiving a file from the insurance company, asking me to defend one of their insureds. The first years of my law practice were spent in general-practice matters, but as time went on, I specialized in representing individuals who were sued as a result of an automobile collision, as well as some suits against home owners and some contract insurance policy interpretation cases. In my era, 1961-2007, many of these cases resulted in a jury verdict. Most were settled at some point before a jury verdict, but I had about 300 or 400 jury verdicts in these types of cases, which represent almost ten percent of the cases referred to me. In almost all the trials, I was the only attorney for the defendant..."
