

(PRLEAP.COM) "Four Fold Returns: Meditations, Contemplations, and Petitions for the 21st Century," a new book by Susie Schmidt, has been released by RoseDog Books.

This book gives an optimistic look on life as it tends toward positive, and not negative, thinking. The work of writing this book was enjoyable. It was exciting to write because it is very creative and has a biblical foundation. There is little biblical poetry and personal experience on the market such as this. This book should be an inspiration to people interested in meditation and prayer. If more people start thinking positively and not negatively, the conditions of the world would become better and affect the masses for the greatest good.

About the Author: Author Susie M. Schmidt is a graduate of theological studies and enjoys reading, writing and traveling. She has traveled throughout the United States, observing many aspects of living conditions in America.

Susie lives alone in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; but has lived in the San Francisco Bay area for approximately 39 years. She worked as a social worker and director of Christian education at a Presbyterian church.
