

( PRLEAP.COM ) July 10, 2014 - "All I Got Left: Moving Past the Words of Others," a new book by Theresa L. Washington, has been released by Dorrance Publishing Co., Inc.

Two divorces left Theresa L. Washington just enough will to move on to her life, while the pain and scars from years of mental abuse from two marriages had left a deep imprint in her soul.

Unlike most women, Theresa refuses to be defeated by the tragedy of her past. Rather, she moves on to educate herself, summon the will to manage a life alone, and embark on a project to raise herself up. It's been a long struggle, certainly not without the attending questions that nag at the head. With perseverance and God, Theresa has put everything in proper perspective, and now muses on the life before her.

About the Author: Born in Detroit, Michigan, Theresa L. Washington was raised by her mother and grandparents in Richmond, Indiana. Theresa accepted Jesus Christ, at the age of 44, on August 17, 2003 at Christ Temple Apostolic Faith Church, Dayton, Ohio. After struggling to overcome years of psychological abuse in Dayton, Ohio, she relocated to Indianapolis, Indiana, where she went to college. Theresa graduated magna cum laude from Crossroads Bible College, Indianapolis, Indiana, and received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Leadership and Ministry on May 21, 2011.
