

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Entertainment lawyer Michael Vogler appears on the September 2013 cover of Los Angeles Lawyer magazine for his article "Foreign Practices" where he outlines the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and how U.S. entertainment companies operating abroad need to develop comprehensive plans to avoid FCPA violations.

"With explosive market growth in emerging foreign markets, studios are shooting overseas with ever greater frequency. It is critically important that U.S. entertainment companies operating abroad develop comprehensive FCPA compliance programs or face significant liability, including DOJ and SEC prosecution," said Vogler.

Michael Vogler also stated, "I am one of the very few FCPA attorneys in United States with decades of actual on-set production experience. I've worked on more than 40 productions around the world including Europe, Asia, and Africa. No other FCPA lawyer in the country has that kind of practical experience."

Mr. Vogler is an active member of the California State Bar and the U.S. District Court, Central District of California. He is a member of The Beverly Hills Bar Association, The Los Angeles County Bar Association, The Pasadena Bar Association, and The Producers Guild of America. Mr. Vogler is also a graduate of Healdsburg High School ('83), UCLA ('87), American Film Institute ('99) and Concord Law School ('11).
