

Schism Premiere to be Held During Scremfest

Written by Australian Business

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Seven Arts Entertainment Inc. (OTCQB: SAPX) ("Seven Arts" or the "Company") is pleased to announce that its film "Schism" will premiere during Scremfest, L.A. The first screening will take place on Saturday 12th

October; the film will also be screened at the prestigious New Orleans

Film Festival on both Saturday 12th and Monday 14th

October.

Director Adam Gierasch stated, "It's absolutely wonderful that Seven Arts gave me the opportunity to make my weird horror art noir film...my most personal movie to date, I really let me freak flag fly and I'm thrilled that it'll be premiering at Scremfest."

Schism tells the story of Dylan White; Dylan has a normal, boring life. Then horrifying visions start to interrupt his waking moments, and he must face the fact that he literally doesn't know who he is. Following clues that take him to the dark underbelly, Dylan soon finds both his life and soul in danger. Featuring a masterful performance by

Callum Blue

, SCHISM is a trip to the dark side, noir-style: bad men, bad dames, bad sex and bad intentions.

About Seven Arts Entertainment Inc.: Seven Arts Entertainment Inc. was founded in 2002 as an independent motion picture production and distribution company engaged in the development, acquisition, financing, production and licensing of theatrical motion pictures for exhibition in domestic (i.e., the United States and Canada) and foreign theatrical markets, and for subsequent worldwide release in other forms of media, including home video and pay and free television.
