

DENVER, SAN FRANCISCO, and MIAMI, Nov. 12, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Following their recent acquisition of YourEDM.com (YourEDM.com via YahooFinance), the world's largest electronic dance music (EDM) news site, The EDM Network has announced that it has acquired the rights to the domain EDM.com.

EDM.com is being touted as major collaborative undertaking.

CEO Jason Muir offers further insight, "EDM.com represents for us the culmination of three years of work and hundreds of millions of plays across our platforms. We are now working with world-leading developers to ensure that EDM.com will become the central hub for Electronic Dance Music within the digital space, something greatly needed in an industry dominated by physical presence and live events."

Many of the most respected artists and labels within the industry have already pledged their support to the project.

"EDM.com is set to be far more than just another music platform," said Chief Operating Officer Ethan Baer, "It will be a place where fans can connect with their favorite artists, and engage with countless others who share their musical taste. We aim to create a reliable and trustworthy space not only for fans, but for artists, promoters, labels, and all manner of industry professionals. The goal of EDM.com is to create a new point of reference for all of Electronic Dance Music online."

"This website will represent the highest quality and most versatile range of content available," said Albert Berdellans, Chief Marketing Officer. "We have made it a priority to ensure that we have the very best writers and content creators on staff. We aren't cutting any corners, because we know that we are only as strong as our personnel." He continued, "Future projects and acquisitions will reflect this commitment to quality. EDM.com is based upon a proven model, and all that remains is the launch and execution of the platform. This is exactly what our team has excelled at doing over the last three years."

More details on the launch and the development of the actual property will be revealed before the end of the year. The Pre-Launch Campaign will begin on Monday, November 18 - stay tuned!
