

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- For many, the search for an effective criminal defense lawyer in Los Angeles can prove both difficult and time consuming. As one of the most populous and diverse cities in the country, it can be hard to know which criminal defense attorney to trust. However, for those who have worked with Los Angeles murder defense lawyer Hamid Towfigh, the choice is always clear. For over 16 years, Mr. Towfigh has represented those in Los Angeles who face severe circumstances, and has garnered an unrivaled track record in the process.

Los Angeles has always been a highly desirable city to live in. Its diverse population and beautiful climate continue to inspire many to make the city their home. Nonetheless, the highly populated and culturally-rich area has also been exceptionally volatile at times, with an organized crime presence in the early 20th century paving the way for gang activity that still serves as a dangerous issue to this day. Even still, homicide rates in the city have been declining for decades – a record that very well may end this year. As crime issues become a serious concern once again, Angelenos can breathe a sigh of relief knowing the renowned Hamid Towfigh is on hand to fight for justice.

Born and raised in Southern California, Mr. Towfigh cares deeply for the city and its residents, a fact that even inspired Los Angeles County District Attorney Gil Garcetti (and father to the current mayor Eric Garcetti) to choose Mr. Towfigh as a Deputy District Attorney. As a top prosecutor, Mr. Towfigh was chosen to handle a number of cases involving some of the city's highest profile celebrities, including Dr. Dre, Master P. and supermodel Adriana Lima, to name a few.

While Mr. Towfigh's legal acumen naturally garnered the interest of some of L.A.'s most powerful residents, he nonetheless remained committed first and foremost to the city's residents who need help the most. As a member of the elite Hardcore Gang Division, the acclaimed attorney served as prosecutor for some of the most serious murder trials involving criminal gangs like the Mexican Mafia and the notorious 18th Street gang, as well as over a dozen different Blood and Crip gangs.

Throughout his career, he has won virtually every murder jury trial and lost only one felony jury trial – an unprecedented feat. Perhaps most impressively, though, Mr. Towfigh continues to give back to the community through youth mentoring and as a motivational speaker with Project L.E.A.D., where he lectures at high schools and speaks to children about the dangers of gang activity.

If the current homicide rate continues, this would be the first year since 2005 that the number of homicides increased from the previous year. Yet, with experienced attorney and criminal justice advocate Hamid Towfigh working to protect their interests, L.A. residents can rest easy knowing there are true professionals working to keep the city on a positive track.
