Great web design and development and social networking help business grow

Fidelity Networks, a full service technology provider, is offering very low cost web services for a limited time.

"The rapidly evolving marketplace for web design and development world can be intimidating to a business owner," say lead web developer Kathleen Hurley. "Fidelity Networks has a commitment to

Concierge Service

, and that extends to our

Web Services platform

. The BYOD program makes web presence painless for our clients."

With all on-shore, in-house developers and designers, Fidelity Networks delivers high-quality service and results that help grow your business.

Through the month of August, Fidelity Networks is offering web design services at $250.

This package, called

Bring Your Own Domain (BYOD)

, includes a CMS-driven, professionally designed and developed website with some graphic design and social media integration (Twitter, Facebook, LinkedIn, Youtube, Yelp, etc.). "The idea is to get local businesses

on the web by eliminating their biggest hurdle to success", says

Fidelity Networks President, Scott M. Herndon

. "The consultation that is included is worth its weight in gold to a small business or start-up

, and any business benefits from professional services when it comes to brand management."
