Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) San Diego, CA – centrexIT, one of the leading San Diego IT support providers, was once again named among the best companies to work for by the San Diego Business Journal. Scoring the number four spot, centrexIT beat out nearly 40,000 other small businesses in the area for the honor. The surveys took into consideration elements like income, work-life balance, company culture and much more.

"We are so happy to be recognized yet again for our commitment to our team as well as our customers," said Dylan Natter, founder and CEO of centrexIT. "Delivering the best possible San Diego IT support takes a dedicated, creative and reliable team. In order for us to be successful service providers, we must first ensure our own team members are well taken care of."

While it is also one of the area's fastest growing companies as determined by the San Diego Business Journal, centrexIT remains a tight-knit group of committed employees including San Diego IT support specialists, account managers, administrators and management. The company's culture is to value the individual talents of its employees and create a collaborative, creative environment that ultimately benefits the client.

Among the collaborative initiatives implemented by centrexIT are in-house research and development committees. In a social and relaxed environment team members brainstorm and consider the best services and products for business in San Diego. Through this shared effort, centrexIT is able to provide the best San Diego IT support for businesses that increases efficiency and ensures continuity.
