

(PRLEAP.COM) Anaheim Hills, Calif. – August 30, 2013 – onthenetOffice, which provides businesses with some of the fastest, most secure hosted desktops and hosted solutions on the market, can design a solution that fits businesses in any industry.

"onthenetOffice has a proven track record of providing dynamic, customizable hosted IT solutions," CEO Alexander Saca said. "Our extensive client list includes businesses in more than 25 industries. We have established a reputation of delivering solutions that can be designed to fit any business's specifications, including various industry standards."

In addition to being flexible and customizable, all of onthenetOffice's hosted solutions are equipped with several features that make them the perfect solution for businesses in every industry, including: SMX Speed Technology (a unique combination of technologies, protocols, and best practices that allows onthenetOffice to deliver the world's fastest hosted desktops and applications); 4-D Security (a multi-level approach to security that ensures the highest level of protection for client's data and hosted services); and 24x7x365 support from a dedicated team of technicians. Additionally, onthenetOffice has established relationships with many software manufacturers, which means they can provide any application clients might need. Below are some of the industries they serve and how they meet the needs of businesses in those industries:

Construction: onthenetOffice's hosted solutions benefit businesses in the construction industry because their centralized nature allows employees to access the same files and data whether they are in the office, at a construction site, or some other location. They also provide applications commonly used in the construction industry including Sage 300 and AutoCAD.

Legal: Lawyers and other legal practitioners can host important legal applications such as Timeslips and Abacus which allow for efficient billing and office management. 4-D Security and other security features allow onthenetOffice to provide legal offices with solutions that guarantee their information is secure.

Healthcare: With numerous regulations governing the industry, healthcare businesses benefit from onthenetOffice's highly-secure infrastructure and around-the-clock monitoring services. Additionally, onthenetOffice offers EHR and EMR hosting services, which helps healthcare offices meet the fast-approaching deadline of having to switch to electronic records.
