

Square 9 Soon to Release Cloud-Enabled Document Management

Written by Australian Business

(PRLEAP.COM) May 23, 2014 - New Haven, CT – Square 9 Softworks, the award winning developer of document management software, has revealed that their renowned SmartSearch document management system will now be cloud-enabled. By leveraging the power of cloud computing, Square 9's document management solutions can further assist companies in eliminating their inefficient paper processes.

Square 9's suite of solutions have been designed to accommodate any sized organization with a user-friendly, customizable program built to streamline document workflow, content management and inter-office collaboration. The reveal of their cloud-enabled edition comes as good news to companies with document-intensive processes that are seeking to expand remote access while eliminating a reliance on paper.

Square 9's cloud hosting solutions have significantly amplified their digital document automation software capabilities. Through cloud-enabled document management, Square 9 has enhanced the capacity of numerous automated workflow functions and has increased mobility options while maintain the security of safely stored data. Organizations can complete tasks in a timely and cost effective manner that was not possible under cumbersome paper systems. In addition, cloud hosting has fundamentally transformed the way in which companies collaborate with their employees by changing how information can flow and be managed outside the confines of an office.

As a leading developer of paperless office software, Square 9 has been well sought after by companies throughout numerous industries, including but not limited to: accounting, aerospace, banking, construction, insurance and healthcare. Their award winning SmartSearch document management software has been highly praised for its ability to successfully automate any paper intensive process. Their innovative product suite is set to tackle many common business problems with solutions for improved contract management, employee onboarding, case management, accounts payable and more.

Square 9's soon to be released cloud-enabled document organizer software delivers the ability to help companies streamline their workflow systems, save money, and expand through the power of cloud computing. For more information on SmartSearch document management and the Square 9 library of business automation solutions, please visit <http://www.square-9.com/> or call 203-789-0889 today.

About Square 9 Square 9 Softworks is an award winning developer of document management software solutions designed to automate any paper intensive process. Square 9 leads the enterprise content management industry with a wide product offering for solutions in business process automation. Square 9 delivers value-driven solutions for document capture software, content management, variable data printing and more. Serving companies of all sizes, from across numerous industries, Square 9 is the preferred ECM software manufacturer of North American, Western Europe, Africa and Australia.

Square 9 Soon to Release Cloud-Enabled Document Management

Written by Australian Business