

Micro Marking Experts at Potomac Work with NASA on Solar Probe Plus

Written by Australian Business

September 5, 2014 - NASA engineers needed to accurately mark miniature custom connectors to exacting specifications for extreme conditions, and Potomac Photonics created the tool and the process to accurately place marks on small components with high precision.