

Written by Business News

---

Potomac's 3D Printing capabilities are helping prototype new micro testing devices on an incredibly small spatial scale that will enable scientists to provide the biotech world with accurate models for research.